PRESS RELEASE

Burt-Watts Creates New Headquarters for HealthYes!™ Preventive Screening

HealthYes! Moves to Austin

AUSTIN, TX September 17— Burt-Watts Industries, Inc., a leading Austin-based commercial general contracting firm, was selected to provide general contracting and construction management services for the finish-out of HealthYes!'s new 9,000-square-foot headquarters location at 4930 South Congress Avenue.

HealthYes!, a premier provider of mobile medical screenings, moved to Austin late last year from Independence, Ohio. Initially the company's new office will house 21 employees. Executives look to nearly double that number by year's end.

"Burt-Watts worked with our team to create an energetic and comfortable work environment. They were able to transform the space and meet our key objectives," said Dale Wood, co-founder and president, HealthYes!.

The company selected the South Congress location for its convenient access to major thoroughfares and because of the resurgence underway in the area.

"The eclectic feel surrounding our headquarters is representative of Austin. We're excited to kick-off the company on South Congress and plug-in to the community," said Elijah May, director of communications, HealthYes!.

In addition to housing the new company's staff, the headquarters includes a showroom featuring the advanced screening technology used by HealthYes! to identify those at risk for stroke, heart disease and other potentially life-threatening conditions. The new showroom allows HealthYes! to provide demonstrations to physicians and educate key audiences on their services.

"We enjoyed working with the HealthYes! team. With the company's drive to launch very quickly, our focus was to meet key timelines and construct a multifunctional space aligned with their goals," said Joe O'Jibway, project manager, Burt-Watts.

Haddon + Cowan Architects Collaborative served as the architect on the project.
